How many hats?

How many hats do you wear during the course of a working day or week? Are you able to focus totally on your paid employment or do you find yourself dragging the chains of domesticity into your workplace? In a typical day it's probably fair to say that many women wear the "hats" of cook, mother, social secretary, nurse, teacher, cleaner, all round domestic goddess.how many more can you think of?

We will be focusing on this at the next in our series of Women's Enterprise Events, to celebrate International Women's Day. Our evening will also feature a photography exhibition by Judith Hayes Allen, aiming to highlight, in a visual way, how many hats today's women wear. Judith is an artist living and working in London, and has exhibited her work across many Galleries in the UK. She is based at the Bermondsey Project in London, and won the Towry Photographic Prize in 2011.

Cocktails and Canapés with an International theme will be served throughout, and we'd be delighted if you could join us for all or any part of the evening.

Judith is also conducting a short survey based on the "How Many Hats" theme and we would invite you to take part in this – it will take no more than 5 minutes to complete and will assist Judith greatly in highlighting something we probably already know – we are expert multi-taskers! If you would like to take part in this survey, please complete the attached PDF and return it to Judith.

We look forward to seeing you on the 6th March.
